

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 25, 1744.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

Petersburgh, January 7.

H E Marquis de la Chetardie is somewhat indisposed, which obliges him to keep his Chamber; but great Preparations are making, notwithstanding, for his Publick Entry. All the Lords and Ladies have Orders to appear, on that Occasion, in grand Gala; the Grenadiers of the Life Guards are to be drawn up on the Parade in their Habits of Ceremony, and the great Officers of State have Orders to attend. Prince Noriskin, who has been absent from his Country, had lately an Audience of her Majesty, in which he was extremely well received; and as he has applied a great Part of his Time to Study, her Imperial Majesty has been pleas'd to put him at the Head of the Academy at Petersburgh; in full Expectation, that by his Care, it will be brought to that Point of Perfection which the late Emperor Peter I. design'd.

Stockholm, January 13. It is generally believed here, that his Majesty will make a Tour to Germany in the beginning of the Month of March next. His Royal Swedish Highness spends a great Part of his Time with General Keith, and other Russian Officers; and has, occasionally, many of the Swedish Nobility about him who were of the old Ministry. We begin to talk with Confidence of his being married shortly, but to whom, remains a great Secret. All the French Party give out, that it will be to the Princess Ulrica, Sister to the King of Prussia; but at Court they are positive, that he will espouse the Princess of Hesse; and it is even said, that his Majesty, on his Return from Germany, will bring his Niece with him to this City.

Copenhagen, January 21. Things have changed their Face here strangely. On the 16th, the Count de Tessin received an Express from Stockholm, the Contents of which he communicated to the Court on the 17th. A grand Council was held in the Presence of his Majesty, in which it was resolv'd, that these new Propositions were sufficient for settling the Preliminaries of a Peace. On the 19th his Majesty sent Orders to the Fleet and Army to suspend further Preparations; and in the Evening the like Orders were dispatched to Norway. When the Foreign Ministers went this Morning to pay their Compliments to his Majesty, he was pleas'd to tell them, That he look'd upon all the Matters in Difference between him and the Crown of Sweden as entirely accommodated; and that they might write to that Purpose to their respective Courts.

Naples, January 7. We have received this Morning the disagreeable News, that the Plague is again broke out at Messina, and that several People were dead in different Quarters of that Distemper; upon which the Board of Health renew'd immediately the necessary Orders for preventing all Communication with the Island of Sicily. There was Yesterday a great Council held in the King's Presence, on the Receipt of two Couriers; one from Madrid, and the other from the Spanish Army; but we are ignorant as to the Resolution that was taken. All we know is, that the Troops on the Frontiers have Orders to hold themselves in constant Readiness to march; and that we are daily sending them considerable Reinforcements.

Rome, January 11. The Day before Yesterday arriv'd a Courier from Ancona, with Advice, that some English Ships had appear'd before that Port, and had demand'd Admittance; upon which the Governor desired further Instructions. A Council was immediately held, at the Rating of which the Courier was sent back, with Orders to admit the Ships, on Condition that their Captains behaved as in a Neutral Port. These are supposed to be the same Ships that lately fired upon the Spanish Entrenchments at Senigaglia.

Bologna, January 14. The First Battalion of the Austrian Regiment of Count Henry Daun arriv'd in the Neighbourhood of this City Yesterday; and To-morrow will continue their March, in order to join the Army of Prince Lobkowitz. The Second and Third Battalions of the same Regiment will arrive here within a Day's Distance of each other, as will also the three Battalions of the Regiment of Palavicini. A Train of 26 Pieces of heavy Cannon is gone from Mantua, in order to its being transported to the Austrian Army. His Highness Prince Lobkowitz has been lately employ'd in taking up a considerable Number of Vessels which are to serve as Transports; on board which he proposes to ship some Thousand Men, in order to make a Descent in the Neighbourhood of Fano, so as to get between the Spanish Army and the Kingdom of Naples, and afford the Austrians an Opportunity of attacking them at once in Front and Rear.

Modena, January 15. The Commissaries of the Queen of Hungary and of the King of Sardinia are actually assembled at Piacenza and Vigevano, in order to proceed to the Execution of the Articles of the Treaty of Worms. Upon Advice that the French had march'd 15 Battalions towards the County of Nice, the King has sent a Reinforcement of some Thousand Men to the Marquis de Sully, who commands there; and Admiral Mathews has detached some Vessels from his Fleet, to bring over two Battalions from the Island of Sardinia, which are to be employ'd at Nice and Villafranca.

Vienna, January 18. Count Ferdinand d'Althan, Ambassador from the Order of Malta, made Yesterday a solemn Entry into this City, and had a Publick Audience of the Queen, with the usual Ceremonies. Her Majesty went afterwards to Mollendorf, the Seat of Prince Charles, to pay him and the Arch-duchess a Visit, and returned thither in the Evening. It is impossible for Military Preparations to go on with greater Vigour, than they do in the Queen's Hereditary Countries; Numbers of Men are enlisted daily, vast Quantities of Provisions and Ammunition are carrying to the Magazines; yet nobody pretends to penetrate the true Designs of the Court, or on what Side the Storm is like to fall. The only Thing we know with Certainty is, that the Colonels in her Majesty's Service, have received Instructions to have their respective Corps complete, and ready to march, by the 1st of April at farthest; and it appears by the List, that her Majesty will bring two Armies into the Field, making 110,000 at least.

Hague, January 31. The Baron de Reischach, her Hungarian Majesty's Minister, presented, on the 23d, a Memorial to their High Mightinesses, the Substance of which was, That, conformable to the Orders he had received from the Queen his Mistress, he found himself oblig'd to press them, to furnish, as soon as possible, the Arrears of the Subsidies granted her Majesty for the Year 1742, and fix'd at 840,000 Florins; as also those amounting to 1,600,000 Florins, which are absolutely necessary to enable her Majesty to act with the Vigour requisite against her Enemies; as being unable to furnish that Expence, without the Assistance of her faithful Allies. He adds, That he also takes the Liberty to put their High Mightinesses in mind, that they would be pleas'd to give immediate Orders, for the putting the 20,000 Men, with which they are to assist her Majesty, in a Condition to act, that she may take the Field very early, and have the Use of those Forces against her Enemies, who are redoubling their Endeavours to attack and overwhelm her; the Queen having a firm Confidence with this Assistance, or a greater if the Necessity of her Affairs should require, she shall be able to make Head against them all; so as to bring about a solid and lasting Peace, upon Terms favourable to the Common Cause, &c.

HOME PORTS.

Portsmouth, January 23. Yesterday came to Spithead his Majesty's Ship the Plymouth, Capt. Dent, from Plymouth; the Grenada Bomb, Capt. Parry, from the Downs; the Winchelsea Privateer, Capt. Garrald, from London; and the Henry, Cook, and the Judith, Payne, both for Oporto.

Deal, January 23. Wind N. E. Came down and sail'd the Expedition, Scrageways, for Guiney; the Francis, Diddier, and the Speedwell, Clark, both for Gibraltar. The Knappen Hoff, Schutter, is preparing to sail. R-man the Furnace Man of War; the Bacchus, Cobb, from Oporto; and the Ship from Virginia.

Gravefend, January 23. Pass'd by the William, King-hugh, from New-England.

LONDON.

There happen'd, on the 17th of last Month, a very surprising Phenomenon at Carthage, in Old Spain; there appear'd, about Five in the Evening, on the Side of the Mountain of Roland, which is situated some Leagues to the West of that City, a vast Stream of Light, resembling a River of Fire, with a Kind of Fall or Cascade; which afterwards form'd a Sort of Sheet of Fire, extending several Leagues to the East, affording so bright a Light, that the Eye could scarce endure it. There afterwards appear'd a great Globe of Fire beneath it, which, in the Space of some Minutes, broke into four lesser Balls, that flew off to the North, South, East, and West. This Irruption was attended with a Clap of Thunder, so loud, that waken'd, and even stunned, the Inhabitants for several Leagues round. The four lesser Balls broke each with a Thunder-Clap, but nothing near so loud as the first. It was very remarkable, that, during the whole Time of this Appearance, the Sky was perfectly serene, and the Stars shone very bright.

The Unity, Purchase, from Newfoundland for Portugal, is taken and carried into Galicia.

Yesterday one William Johnson was committed to Newgate by Sir John Salter, for stealing a Bar of Iron, value 2 s. 6 d. out of the Shop of Mr. Allen, a Farrier, in Coleman-street.

On Sunday Morning, about Two o'Clock, one Claer Wagg, a Baker, was attacked on Ludgate-Hill by four Men and a Woman, who knock'd him down, beat him in a cruel Manner, and robb'd him of his Hat and Wig, with other Things, and then made off.
